Battle of Blue Licks Commemoration
August 15 - 16, 2009

Daniel Boone and other pioneers took part in the battle in 1782 along the Licking River. The outnumbered pioneers lost as they went up against British soldiers and Native Americans. Among the 70 pioneers who died was Boone's youngest son, Israel.

This weekend will be highlighted with two reenactments of the battle at 3 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

Special music, 18th century traders, and other educational opportunities will add to the weekend entertainment. Visitors will also be able to stroll through pioneer encampments and see how pioneers lived during the 18th century.

Stop by the Pioneer Museum this weekend to see a special showing of "The Life and Legend of Daniel Boone." A special traveling exhibit from the Kentucky Historical Society. This exhibit along with many others will be available for viewing from 9:00 am to 7:00pm on Saturday and 9:00 am to 5:00 pm on Sunday.
